D. Once you have an idea of who you would like to nominate for what award, use the DGS Awards Hub Nomination Form to submit their name to the Awards Committee:

https://utexas.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV\_bqkBplojNP0gMXs

* Up to 3 awards can be listed on each nomination form (i.e., 3 awards per person you are nominating)

E. Once the Awards Committee received your nomination, one of the committee members (typically someone in your discipline) will begin exploring the feasibility of a nomination. This may include (but is not limited to):

- leading the nomination themselves if appropriate
- coordinating with the JSG nominator to get more information on potential nominations (this is especially helpful for us, you may know the award criteria and nominee better than we do so your help is invaluable!)
- contacting potential letter writers and allowing them to move forward with the nomination
- contacting potential letter writers and helping them coordinate letters or nomination packets (which can often just be providing helpful reminders, so the award goes in on time)
- or, if an award is not appropriate this year, they will curate the suggestion for a future year or nomination in consultation with the rest of the awards committee.
